We empower millions of customers around the world to start and grow their businesses with our smart technology, award-winning support, and inspiring content. Founded in 1999 and headquartered in Hyderabad India. About 21 years ago, Dilip Maram developed a retail software designed for garments stores. His focus was on big, corporate clients, but on the side, he created a delightful software application service for small businesses. It gave small business owners who lacked the high-end tools and resources of their larger competitors access to technology that empowered them and helped them grow. Dilip Maram loves serving these users because understanding businesses is in his DNA. With Maram, they found that working for businesses gave them the freedom to be more creative and adapt quickly to their needs. Over the past couple of years, we have launched a slew of new applications and functionalities: social posting digital ads, a Marketing CRM, multiple mobile apps, postcards, softwares, smart content tools, advanced automations and much more. — We are an all-in-one business Platform. As our product and team continues to grow, one thing stays the same: Our mission is to empower the underdog. Maram strives to create a culture that empowers a humble, creative, and independent workforce. We are passionate about our business customers and believe that collaboration and creativity are powerful tools to help them make their dreams a reality. We love how each new hire adds to our culture. We believe that what makes us different makes us stronger. Building a more diverse, inclusive and equitable organization is good for our teams, our customers, and our community. We empower each other to bring unique perspectives and experiences to work and we continually seek new ways to do so. With these resources, we work to establish a foundation of consistency and equity to build on so we can continue to adapt, experiment, embrace failure and create value. We believe that Big Change Starts Small, whether you're just starting your business or trying to create positive change in your community. We've learned that in a world full of big issues, small world changers need a champion. We believe in the power of creativity to help people sharpen their talents and build the critical life skills to help them thrive. We know that social entrepreneurs are poised to make some of the most exciting changes in our community. And we know that local organizations deserve the same investment and celebration that they give to our neighbors who need it most. Maram has long recognized the importance of these issues and we have thoughtfully built applications to help organizations drive big change.
